Becoming "Army strong" is a resolution that this week's Wednesday's Child, Francisco (1999), is striving towards. Francisco is very active and physically fit, working out most every day. Francisco hopes to one day proudly serve in The United States Army. While he may one day defend freedom as part of an Army battalion, Francisco recently spent an afternoon with Los Angeles Kings defenseman, #27 Alec Martinez, as the Kings prepared to battle on the ice!

Francisco is overall optimistic, sometimes strong-willed, and really resilient – and he knows how to express himself accordingly. He describes himself as friendly, outgoing and "interesting"; those who know him well concur and see Francisco as engaging and one who can get along well with others.

Like most kids his age, Francisco enjoys hanging out with his friends and playing games. He also enjoys playing sports such as basketball and football and was showing signs of a newly sparked interest in hockey. With his high energy level, Francisco would do well with a family that enjoys an active lifestyle. We don't want Francisco growing up as an "army of one" when he could become all that he can be by joining a family like yours.
