From time to time we all need a little extra time and attention. This week's Wednesday's Child story is a second look at KJ, who was born in 1993 and still need s a permanent and loving home. We met him at a Dodger batting practice right before an evening game.

VIP credentials, your own entourage, photographers, jersey, being on the field and autographs from the star players on the team – we are talking MAJOR excitement that only being at a major league game can bring. "Who's Tommy Lasorda?" KJ asked. Yes, he also got to meet Dodger legends as well.

From playing catch on the field with the team to a batting lesson, one thing is clear – KJ loves baseball! He hopes to be a baseball player someday so the tips he received that day (and rubbing elbows with star players) will stay with him for a lifetime. What KJ is lacking and looking for is lifetime family – someone to take him to more Dodger games and to be there for KJ's major moments in the big game of life.

We first met KJ more than a year ago and he does have some special needs. What we knew then still holds true - you'll find that KJ is an inquisitive and engaging young man with a genuine heart with lots of love to give to that special family.

We're at the 7th inning stretch and we don't want KJ left behind. If you have a heart for older children, please give us a call.
